Description

The GT25-MESIFKEY-5 license package from Mitsubishi is crucial for enabling Manufacturing Execution System (MES) interface capabilities within the Mitsubishi GOT2000 series. This license package is a software key that unlocks essential functions for GT27 and GT25 terminal models, ensuring seamless integration with MES applications. Each GT25-MESIFKEY-5 package contains five individual licenses, allowing users to deploy the functionality effectively across multiple GOT units.

Adhering to a standard license type, each license in the GT25-MESIFKEY-5 package is structured to meet typical operational demands in manufacturing environments. Importantly, each license operates on a per-unit basis, which means a single license is required for each GOT device to activate the MES features. For organizations requiring more extensive applications, additional volume licensing options are available. Users may choose from packages that offer 1, 10, or 20 licenses, catering to various deployment needs. This flexibility supports scaling within different operational frameworks.

Standard package features allow for straightforward selection processes, contributing to the efficiency of maintaining and operating the MES interface across different devices. The GT25-MESIFKEY-5 5-license package is essential for enhancing communication and data exchange
